

What should I already know?

- Who is special to me and why.
- How people care for each other.
- Some of the qualities which make a good friend.
- How to make new friends
- How to set boundaries in a polite way.

Key Knowledge

- To be able to describe the qualities of friendships and the skills for making friends.
- To develop strategies for managing when friendships are difficult.
- To understand there are different family patterns.
- To describe what is special about their own family, it's members and other people they know.

Key Vocabulary and Definitions
Friendship	The relationship between two people who are not family.
Qaulities	A particular characteristic of someone.
Eye contact	When two people look directly into one and another's eyes.
Body language	The movements made by your body caused by how you are feeling.
Compliment	To say something nice about someone else.
Bragging	To say something to someone else to show off
Helpful	Something that is useful.
Unhelpful	Something that is not useful.
Jealous	Wanting what someone else has got.
Resolution	To solve a problem or argument.
Peaceful	Not wanting to argue and avoiding conflict.
Problem solving	The process of finding a solution to an issue.